Dr. Vernon Coleman: The Covid-19 Vaccine and Heart Disease

By Dr. Vernon Coleman

Back in December 2020 I warned that the mRNA Covid jabs could cause a huge number of serious adverse events – including myocarditis, heart attacks and strokes.

The warning, the first in the world I believe, was largely ignored. Doctors sneered and ignored it and fact checkers denied it – even though the warning was based on evidence from the American Government.

I had long since been banned by YouTube for telling the truth about the vaccine but the video had over a million views on Brand New Tube alone and was widely copied. (That platform was later `hacked' and destroyed.) Once again, however, the mainstream media ignored the evidence.

Soon, healthy young adults, including fit sports professionals, were collapsing and in some cases dying with heart trouble. There were so many heart problems among school children that there was a call to put defibrillators in all schools.

It was obvious that the heart troubles were caused by the covid-19 vaccine. But the mainstream media refused to warn that the Covid jabs were causing myocarditis and heart attacks. Instead, they found other, sometimes bizarre, explanations for this new epidemic of heart disease. The Evening Standard in London says that up to 300,000 people were facing heart related illnesses due to something called Post Pandemic Stress Disorder. The new disease even had its own acronym: PPSD. 'Wales Online' reported that a TV doctor called Amir Khan, had allegedly said that the huge increase in energy prices could be responsible for the increase in heart attacks and strokes.

The Daily Record said that paracetamol, the painkiller, increases heart attack risks and the risk of strokes. On the other hand the Daily Express had a headline which read: 'Heart attacks: Does skipping breakfast increase your risk?' The Daily Mirror in Sri Lanka said the Delta variant of Covid could cause heart trouble in patients with no previous history of problems. And the Daily Mirror in the UK said there was now a new miracle jab which would prevent heart attacks. 'Make 'em ill with one jab and mend 'em with another' is pretty standard drug company policy.

A television station in Los Angeles reported that doctors had warned that Super Bowl games might trigger heart attacks. The Mayo Clinic in the US stuck to the old excuse and said that stress and chaos can cause heart disease. (I first pointed that out in 1978 in a book called Stress Control.) The Sun reported that the weather can cause heart attacks. It was even argued that all the heart attacks were caused by people eating too much good food. And other journalists claimed that vitamin D shortages were causing the trouble. Bayer, a drug company, argued that long Covid increases heart trouble.

This was an interesting suggestion because a French study of 26,000 people suggested that the symptoms of long Covid were largely psychological. Even the wretched fact checkers agree with that. But the truth, as I'd been saying since 'long Covid' first appeared is that the symptoms of 'long Covid' are, by coincidence, exactly the same as the symptoms of vaccine injury. What a surprise.

The amazing thing is that despite all these sometimes bizarre theories, I did not find one major newspaper, TV station or radio station anywhere in the world prepared to admit that all these heart troubles, strokes and other illnesses might, just might, be caused by the covid-19 vaccine – which had actually been proven to cause heart problems.

If the truth had been shared thousands and thousands of lives could have been saved.

Amazingly, doctors are still accepting their thirty pieces of silver to vaccinate the unwary and the ill-informed with the covid-19 vaccine – a substance which I believe to be the most dangerous medical product ever made.

Tapestry says:

Doctors are trained for years to not think about what they are required to do to human beings and become greedy into the bargain. There are good and bad in all walks of life, but somehow dirty doctors who profit from murder are of the very worst, hiding behind a pretence of caring.

Belyi says:

Unfortunately I had to spend a few days in hospital six months ago; the result of a dental anaesthetic that hadn’t worn off and a glass of wine! I have a holistic dentist now who explained to me what happened, as the hospital doctors couldn’t.

I shared a room with a lady who’d had three jabs, which she said she regretted, although I didn’t ask her when or why. Six months earlier she had developed a cancer that was inoperable as it was wrapped round an artery and had had chemo. She was there that time because she’d developed Guillain Barré syndrome, a well-known side effect of vaccinations.

Obviously I didn’t say that I thought her problems were the result of her jabs and as she had lots of visitors loaded with desserts, chocolates, etc. (sugar is a complete no-no for cancer as it feeds on it) I wonder how she’s getting on now.
